Dear Roycemore Families and Students,

Tomorrow we begin a new experiment for many of us with Remote Learning Days. Many of you already received emails from individual teachers today and I understand that a virtual board and video game club pilot already took place today for some of our Middle School students. I am humbled by the creativity of our faculty in what they have prepared for you and how they have gone above and beyond to support you as we learn together. They have embraced a Growth Mindset in adapting to this unexpected pivot and I hope all of you will join us in embracing the Growth Mindset as well.

Our amazing Director of Curriculum and Innovation has prepared THIS VIDEO on the Parent Page of the Remote Learning site to launch us. Please take the few minutes it takes to watch as it will ground you as we get started with this new adventure.

And please also forgive us if there are a few bumps along the way. We are learning together and we ask that you also remember to display your own grit and special GRIFFINITY as you share with each other our special Roycemore culture to be bold and courageous as we forge ahead together!

With Appreciation,

Adrienne Finley Odell, Head of School
